DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 2-5 are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

With respect to independent claim 2, the prior art reference either alone or in combination fails to disclose, teach, or suggest a stabilizer control apparatus comprising: a stabilizer, an electric motor, a speed reducing mechanism; control means for controlling said electric motor; lateral acceleration calculating means for calculating a lateral acceleration on the basis of the results detected by said vehicle speed detection means and said steering angle detection means, and wherein said control means holds an output of said electric motor to perform a holding control, in the case where the turning state has come to be out of such a range that a rolling motion of a vehicle body can be actively controlled, and sets values of the acceleration obtained when said holding control starts and a normal efficiency and a reverse efficiency of said speed reducing mechanism, to provide such a value that the lateral acceleration obtained when said holding control starts, is multiplied by an inverse of a product of the normal efficiency and the reverse efficiency of said speed reducing mechanism, to be equal to or greater than the lateral acceleration obtained in response to a turning limit of said vehicle.

means for controlling said electric motor; lateral acceleration calculating means for calculating a lateral acceleration on the basis of the results detected by said vehicle speed detection means and said steering angle detection means, wherein said control means controls said electric motor on the basis of at least one of said control means reduces an output of said electric motor to perform a reducing control, in the case where the turning state has come to be out of such a range that a rolling motion of a vehicle body can be actively controlled, and sets values of the acceleration and a normal efficiency and a reverse efficiency of said speed reducing mechanism provided when said reducing control starts, to provide such a value that the lateral acceleration obtained when said reducing control starts, is multiplied by an inverse of a product of the normal efficiency and the reverse efficiency of said speed reducing mechanism, to be equal to or greater than the lateral acceleration obtained in response to a turning limit of said vehicle.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
